Decatur Curb Market Will Be Open On March 5th

TUSCALOOSA PLAN IS ADOPTED WITH A FEW REVISIONS

Permanent Committee In Gathering at Health Offices

FARMERS EVINCE MUCH INTEREST

First Avenue Site Is Selected For The Location

The permanent curb market committee today selected Saturday, March 5, as the opening date for the Albany-Decatur curb market.

Gathering in the offices of the Morgan county health department today at ten o'clock, representatives from the county and from these cities decided upon the Tuscaloosa curb market plan as a pattern for the Albany-Decatur curb market.

The First Avenue site, opposite the offices of the Decatur Cornice & Roofing company, a space of approximately 100 foot frontage, have been selected for the location of the curb market.

With B. C. Shelton, temporary chairman, presiding, the committee went to work at once with the idea toward arranging a definite working basis.

Reports were heard from the committee, headed by Mrs. J. T. Nelson, concerning the selection of a curb master, the selection yet to be determined. The building committee, including C. T. Rountree and F. H. Pointer, spoke of progress in the selection of a site and of plans for building a permanent housing facility for curb sellers and buyers.

Considerable discussion was heard concerning the opening date of the market, the opinions of D. H. McClellan, Priceville, and J. T. Robinson, Albany, Route 3, members of the permanent committee, being accepted. Each of the farmers suggested that Morgan county growers will have sufficient products to offer the first week in March.

Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday of each week was decided upon for market days. Hours of marketing will extend from six in the morning until the noon hour.

Plans for the building of a suitable quarters for the market will be taken up immediately by Albany-Decatur members of the permanent committee, those committees soliciting the aid of the Auburn extension service, the Albany-Decatur Kiwanis club and the Albany-Decatur Junior Chamber of Commerce.

J. C. Ford, county farm agent, and Miss Sallye Hamilton, home demonstration agent, assisted the committee in working out details for the selected plan. Considerable interest was displayed by farmer members of the committee who see great benefit in the market.

The regular weekly meeting of the Kiwanis club proved unusually interesting and enjoyable to both members and guests last evening at the Y. M. C. A. The meeting was featured with the report of W. W. The meeting was opened with an invocation by Rev. J. D. Wallace. Following the service of an excellent chicken dinner the club was entertained with several delightful vocal numbers by Mrs. Henry Klein, accompanied by Mrs. Herman Whaley.

Mr. Fussell took occasion to thank fellow club members for the part the Kiwanis club played in the recent "Pay Your Poll Tax" campaign, the Kiwanis club having worked alongside other citizens and other civic organizations in the successful drive.

Mr. Fussell estimated that the schools of the county had been benefitted by a sum of $35,000 more this year than usual, as the result of the campaign.

MOTHER AND BABE ARE KILLED IN BED IN ATLANTA HOME

Cotton Mill Worker Makes Gruesome Discovery

FLATIRON IS USED BY MAN

Stranger Who Called At Home Sought By The Police

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 4.—(AP)—The bodies of Mrs. Lottie Ingram and her 14-months-old baby were found by her husband, Barney Ingram early today when he returned home from his all-night work in a cotton mill.

They had been slain in bed. The mother's skull had been crushed by blows from a flat iron, while the infant had been strangled.

On the baby's throat were finger prints and around its neck a strip of cloth torn from a bedspread had been twisted and tied.

The flat-iron, spattered with blood, was found on the bed. The bed-clothing was only slightly disarranged.

Four heavy blows had fractured the woman's skull and cut deep gashes in her face and scalp. Undertakers believe she had been dead since two or three o'clock this morning.

Ingram came home from work about six o'clock and neighbors saw him enter the house. He ran out in a few minutes, crying that his wife and baby had been murdered. An unidentified man, who is said to have gone to the Ingram home about three o'clock this morning, is being sought.

Neighbors told police they were awakened about that hour by someone inquiring for Ingram's home.

Occupying the next apartment in the duplex house is A. B. Skelton, who told police that about 3 o'clock he heard a man knock at the Ingram's door and that Mrs. Ingram answered him. Skelton said the stranger told her he was a friend of her husband, who had sent him to his home to spend the night.

Skelton was detained for further questioning by police.

"REPUTATION" OF REPORTER SACRED, HE SUES BROWNING

Realtor Under Bond As Result Of New Charges

NEW ANGLE IN FAMOUS SUIT

Reporter Alleges He Was Defamed By Millionaire

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Edward West Browning, real estate operator, today was under $10,000 bond because a reporter is seeking by a libel suit to prove that a newspaper's man reputation is as "sacred" as that of a member of any other calling.

Browning was technically under arrest for more than two hours late yesterday before his lawyers provided bonds for his appearance in a $250,000 suit brought by Arthur Lee Mefford, reporter for the Daily Mirror, a tabloid paper.

Mefford is suing because of charges of Browning that the reporter kidnapped Mary Louise Spas, former ward of Browning.

The reporter said Browning had threatened him when he took the girl to the office of his newspaper, where, he says, he was paid $500 for her story. The girl, in her own right, is now suing Browning for $500,000.

A deputy sheriff visited Browning's office with the supreme court order, directing his arrest or the filing of a $10,000 bond to guarantee appearance in Mefford's action. The deputy sheriff lost patience while waiting to see Browning and shouted to an attendant: "Tell him to come out, or I'll smash the door."

"I'll come out," Browning replied to the shout.

Police reserves were called to disperse crowds which had gathered in front of the building. Mefford has lost friends because of Browning's charges, Sandler Benard, counsel for Mefford, said.

Does Not Want Ad Repeated, Result at First Is Enough

"No I do not want my ad repeated," said Mrs. R. E. Catlett in reply to a query from the Daily "want ad" department, "the first response was enough for my classes." Mrs. Catlett had advertised that she wanted students in shorthand.

So, day after day, the results obtained through the Daily want ad columns come to the light. The cost is small, the result is always enough, for the Daily goes into 86 per cent of the homes in Albany-Decatur, Austinville, Fairview and Moulton Heights and Morgan county homes outside these cities.

SINKING FUND TO PAY BRIDGE BOND ISSUE IS STARTED

Decatur Council Acts To Take Care Of City's Paper

$1,500 ASIDE EVERY YEAR

State May Pay Back Fund Advanced For The Work

A sinking fund, to retire the $50,000 bridge bond issue, has been established formally by the City of Decatur.

At the regular meeting of the Decatur council last night steps were taken to create the fund. It will be recalled that, because of the contributions of the counties of Limestone and Morgan to the bridge fund, a total of $937 was left over to the cities of Albany and Decatur after their share of the cost was paid.

The Decatur council last night instructed the city treasurer to transfer this total to a special fund and to add to that fund sufficient money from the city's general fund to make the special account total $3,000. This will equal the $1,500 which the city is expected to set aside each year for retirement of the bonds, provided the money is not refunded to the cities by the state with proceeds from the new $25,000,000 bond issue.

When the bond issues were voted by the citizens of Albany and Decatur, the understanding was that the cities would advance $100,000 to the state in order to facilitate the beginning of construction and, if funds later became available for bridge work in this section by virtue of subsequent state bond sales, that the money advanced by Albany-Decatur would be refunded to the municipalities. The cities, in the meantime, were to establish a sinking fund with which to redeem the issues.

EIGHT ESCAPE AT ETOWAH CO. JAIL

All But 2 Members Of Band Caught By Police

GADSDEN, Ala., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Armed posses today were searching Lookout mountain for two members of a band of eight men, who escaped early today from the Etowah county jail after disarming Jailor Ed Foreman and taking his keys.

Six of the men, who were members of a band arrested Monday, charged with a series of holdups, were captured by police officers within an hour after the delivery.

Tex Sweeney and Roy Barnwell, who is facing a forgery charge, are at liberty.

The break, one of the most daring ever attempted in this section, took place when Jailor Foreman led the men into the "bull pen" for their breakfast. As he opened the door, Carl Stewart grasped him around the neck and pulled him to the floor.

The other men in the pen, he said, then jumped on him, wrapped blankets around his head, took his keys and released themselves. Six persons refused to take advantage of the opportunity for freedom and remained in the jail.

Foreman was alone in the jail at the time of the break.

Commission Bill Killed By Senate Postponement

CONVICT BILLS IN HOUSE 'ADOPTED' BUT IS AMENDED

Tunstall Urges The Members To Carry Out Public Will

SENATE STILL DETERMINED

Sharp Fight Looms on Concurrence With Amendments

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 4.—(AP)—The bill to provide a commission form of government for the consolidated cities Albany, Decatur and Fairview was postponed indefinitely today which, under rules of the legislature, means that it is killed.

The consolidated measure, passed by both houses and held by the governor until the companion bill was passed, was signed this afternoon.

The administration convict bills, as amended by the house penitentiaries committee, were passed by the house and sent to the senate. Several amendments, offered on the floor, were tabled. The bill making it a felony to work convicts in mines or lease them after September 30, 1928, was passed by a vote of 92 to 1.

Urged by Representative A. M. Tunstall, of Hale county, to carry out the will of the people of Alabama and the governor of the state, the lower house passed the senate bills for removal of state and county convicts from mines.

Following passage of the convict measures, which were returned to the senate for concurrence, the house passed without opposition a bill amending the banking code and then turned to passage of local measures.

An overwhelming majority of the senate is claimed by opponents of the amendments in the convict bills and a sharp fight for non-concurrence was expected to develop as soon as the bills were received.

The senate, upon the morning clearing its calendar of minor measures and postponing consideration on a large proportion of the pending legislation.

INTEREST CENTERS ON HOUSE ACTION

Convict Measures are Up For Disposal By Solons

MONTGOMERY, Feb. 4.—(AP)—With the amended convict bills on the calendar today for action, interest was focused on the lower house of the legislature, while the senate marked time until disposition of these important measures had been made by its companion branch of the legislature.

Yesterday the senate disposed of its calendar in 30 minutes and it had little business pending for action today. The house, instead, took up virtually the whole day with arguments on two bills, the sheriff's feed bill and the Adcock Confederate pension bill.

Should the house today pass the convict measures and the senate concur in the amendments, leaders of both houses will try to bring about adjournment for the summer recess after two, or at most, three days of next week, reconvening in June or July.

CITY OFFICES OPEN AS DECATUR BOARD ASSUMES CHARGE

No Changes Planned For 'Time Being,' Nelson Says

PHONES BUSY DURING DAY

Merger Is Effective With But Little Disturbance

Legislative action on the merger of Albany, Decatur and Fairview, caught behind a jam for several days, came tumbling through in a series of rapid developments today and the three communities were Decatur this afternoon, under a democratic form of government.

Governor Bibb Graves told the Daily over long distance that he signed the merger act at one o'clock this afternoon. The senate during the morning has postponed indefinitely the commission form of government bill, providing a commission form for the consolidated cities.

These developments left the Decatur mayor and board of aldermen as the governing board of the merged city.

On behalf of himself and his board, Mayor Nelson this afternoon stated that no changes were planned for the time being and both municipal governments will be operated as in the past for a time. It was regarded as likely, however, that the Decatur mayor and aldermen and citizens will confer within a day or two on future actions.

No special meeting of the Decatur board had been called early this afternoon, Mayor Nelson stated, the return of W. W. Callahan, city attorney of Decatur, being awaited. He is in Montgomery.

Aside from unusual telephone activities, as various citizens called each other regarding the developments, the three cities became one this afternoon without incident. Soon after the merger act was signed, the Johnston street fire department answered an alarm. All municipal officers remained on duty and business was transacted as usual.

PAY DEBTS WITH SURPLUS, IS PLAN

Senate Desires That Tax Reduction Be Put Off

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—(AP)—The senate today went on record for the use of the treasury surplus for reducing the public debt, rather than for tax reduction.

A resolution, making such a declaration, offered by Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, was adopted as a substitute for one by Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, which would have declared for a tax reduction at the present session.

The democratic organization opposed the Norris resolution and the republican organization, aided by some of the republican insurgents, supported it.

The vote was 46 to 33.

Morgan County Motor Co.

-.GOLDEN ROADS.-

By WINIFRED VAN DUZER

Gay Moore and her cousin, Christine Noe, who have been raised by Gay's parents, affectionately called Jaimie and Mary, are employed in the Wall Street house of Johnstone Baird; Christine as telephone operator and Gay as a typist. Christine has determined on a rich marriage and sees opportunity knocking on her door in the person of Roger Pennington, called Penny, by his intimates. Penny is the chum of Stanley Baird who is in love with Gay. Gay returns his love and persuades him to go to work. Christine also encourages the attention of Ivor Barclay, a lawyer client of the house. Gay, who knows of the friendship of Johnstone Baird for a woman whom the girls call the "Lilac Lady" fears that Stanley will inherit his father's vices and is doubtful of his love for her. Gay and Christine are invited to a party given by Stacia Marinoff. Stacia works in the same office and has a tawdry apartment in Greenwich Village. Gay at first refuses the invitations, but on being told that Stanley and Penny are to be there, consents to go. Stanley and Penny arrive at the party very late, having been detained by a dinner given by Stanley's sister, Peg. Gay seeing that Stanley is intoxicated, runs away from the party leaving Christine and goes home alone. Christine stays over night with Stacia and goes to bed in a much befuddled state.

After the party, Gay avoids Stanley. She also discovers that Christine is caught in her own net and is really in love with Penny. Leaving the office one evening, Gay finds Stanley waiting for her, and in order to avoid seeing him returns to the office. She falls asleep and is awakened by the sound of voices.

CHAPTER 14

Low voices ran together in a murmur and came to Gay over the ground-glass partition.

A man's voice and a woman's; the words were indistinct; there were long pauses between. A tryst! In the early dusk two were making love; in the office after everyone had gone they were in each other's arms, whispering.

One of the stenographers perhaps; there was a new one who'd been flirting with Christine's cast-off bookkeeper chap. Or the lilac lady.

A giggle. Gay started up, hot with anger. It was Christine! How could she be so reckless? Even if she cared for Penny, to place herself in such a position! Baird—anyone—might walk in! They were coming across the room; now they were silhouetted against the glass. The man was not Pennington. Sleek head, broad shoulders, kingly bearing. He was Ivor Barclay!

Christine was putting her hands to his face—a winsome, expressive gesture. Her head was tipped back; he caught her up, swung her from her feet.

"Why not tonight, Christ?" he was saying. "Surely tonight—after this?"

Excitement, like a flame, licked through the girl's laugh. "Tonight, then, I've! Oh, I feel like a party tonight! Lights—music—people! Where'll we go?"

"Want to keep it private? I've got a bungalow!"

"What a shiek you are, I've! Nope. Listen; there's April Manor."

Gay held herself up by clutching the door; she was shaking from head to foot.

She'd let them go—hadn't run out; hadn't called them back. Christine with Barclay—handsome, middle-aged, of sinister reputation for his gayeties, she knew now.

They'd gone, and she'd stood there, a frozen thing, while they laughed and planned. Gone up to April Manor, where there was revelry enough to turn a head more steady than Christy's.

He'd talked of his bungalow . . . "Well, I'll have to go after them now; ah, yes—go after them. Bring Christy back—"

But she couldn't go alone. They wouldn't let her in at April Manor if she appeared alone!

She found a telephone, gave the number of Moorelands; snapped up the receiver before there was an answer. Jaimie mustn't know! In his anger and hurt he might say bitter things; Christy thus would find an excuse to leave them; to go her own uncharted way.

There was Penny. Would he be in love with her cousin enough to break in on an affair with another man—to drag her out of danger? Or would he see only the evil look of the thing and hold Christy cheap?

Gay couldn't risk that. Christy cared for Pen; whatever she did, he was the one Christy loved.

Well, then, sacrifice her own pride; go against every instinct. Stan would help. He'd do that for her. Call Stan. . . .

She met him uptown; crossed the street toward his car, her throat pounding. A quick glance into his eyes—how they lighted! Blue flames, striking down her heart!

He helped her gravely, shifted gears without speaking.

"You were the only one I could ask, Stan. You'll understand; a great favor. A hard thing for you . . ."

"Nothing is too hard to do for you, Gay."

"That—oh, you're kind!" She told him her story; he put on more speed as they drew out of town.

"Barclay ought to be ashamed of himself. His wife's just waiting for a chance to file suit, and he knows it!"

"His wife!" Gay twisted her hands. "Did you say his wife, Stan?"

"Didn't you know he's married? Lordee—a perfect fury of a woman. Probably will knife him some day. Well, don't worry. We'll get Christ and you'd better have the Big Fellow give her a talk."

Stan wanted to leave her in the lounge at the roadhouse, but she clung to him. So he sent for the manager whom he called "Bib," and words were exchanged.

"They have a private dining-room, Gay. We'll go up—"

Doors were closed and unnumbered on the second floor; they went searching—Gay set one ajar. A man swore; she saw him with a woman under a dim light and backed out quickly.

Later she was to remember that couple; the man's angry state.

A burst of laughter rattled tipsily along the hall. Stan put his arm around her. "Easy, now, Gay."

They opened another door; stepped into a room.

Britain's Widows Get New Husbands

By International News Service LONDON.—Although Britain is alleged to be burdened with two-million surplus women, apparently her war widows find no difficulty in finding new mates.

The ninth annual report of the Minister of Pensions discloses that four thousand five hundred war widows remarried in 1926, and that since the inception of the British war pensions scheme more than $3,000,000,000 have been paid, a sum claimed to be larger than that paid out by any other country.

That so many war widows remarry should also be considered as remarkable in the light of the fact that by so doing they lose their pensions.

STEEL COMPANY SPENDS BIG SUM

$25,000,000 Amount Spent For New Machinery

By International News Service YOUNGSTOWN, O.—The Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, third largest steel organization in the country, has just completed a two year campaign to reduce the cost of production which has necessitated the expenditure of $25,000,000, according to James A. Campbell, president.

Campbell has authorized the spending of an additional $4,500,000 for modern machinery and equipment, although the last item has not yet been approved by the board of directors.

"Almost over night it may be necessary these days to scrap costly equipment and replace it with new machinery in an endeavor to reduce the cost of our finished product," Campbell declared. "The $25,000,000 we have just spent has not increased our production capacity one ton. It has been used to install modern equipment to cut costs."

"Foreign competition is the nemesis of the steel maker. Wages in Europe are one third those paid in America. In addition to this, ocean freight rates from Hamburg and Antwerp to Pacific coast points are one half those charged by domestic railroads for material from our plants."

Campbell expressed the belief that wages on the continent will be increased somewhat and that scales in the country would be reduced soon, resulting in a lowered cost of living.

There is not a day passing in your home that you do not wish to sell used furniture to make way for the new purchases, employ a servant, rent an apartment, rent those vacant rooms, sell the old car, find that lost coat, bracelet, locket, watch, money.

If you want a position, employment, you can phone Albany 1000 and get in touch with such a position and at a price that you can afford to pay.

The Daily Classified Department (want ad department) produces more and costs proportionately less.

You are wasting opportunities every day in not using the "want ad" columns.

doesn't necessarily apply that you should appear

Beautiful parkways would help a whole lot in

rather than garden building.

The time to build a city is in the present. The desire to build a city is in the present. The opportunity to build a city is in the present. Well,
let's build that city.

In today's news there is an odd story, that of a man who tried the old cure for rheumatism.
Jack Holt of Leicester, England, allowed himself
to be stung 300 times by bees, curing his rheumatism. Thanks, we'll take the rheumatic pains.

Log producers are declared to have a favorable
outlook for the year 1927. Morgan county farmers might place some of the energy spent in
raising worthless cotton into good sized porkers,
then perhaps the interest on the old mortgage
might be paid.

Building is substantially greater here these
days than in former years, but there are still no
homes for a great many who desire to come here.
People, in the majority are building for their own use, or already have the home sold before it is built. That is something else to encourage prosperity talk.

BROTHER PIERCE COMES BACK,
BUT OFF THE POINT.

Honorable J. Emory Pierce, of the Huntsville
Daily Times, came back at us for accusing him of selecting Albany-Decatur as "the hub city"
around which other municipalities of North Alabama will revolve, but frankly our contemporary
did not get the point, or else he cleverly evaded
the point. The Daily writer did not think in the least that there had been any slip of the
pen without meaning all the good things said
about Albany-Decatur, by the Huntsville editor,
what seemed strange from this point of view was
the fact that Mr. Pierce crowned Albany-Decatur
with the glory of being the coming city of the Valley section, when heretofore he had pictured the Valley cities as bowing and scraping to Huntsville. We don't doubt in the least but that Huntsville paper's congratulation to Albany-Decatur is entirely sincere, there was no issue there at all. The central Shoals city is the point and Albany-Decatur is that central Shoals
city, "The Gateway to Alabama."

THE GOOD THAT WILL COME OUT OF THE COURTHOUSE FIGHT.

A comparative few will see any good to come out of the agitation to move the courthouse from Decatur to Hartselle, other than the monetary benefit to the school system of the county. Yet,
there is another feature which may or may not
prove a tangible asset.

Morgan county is considerably stronger than
in other years in point of voting, voting places
people in office, Morgan county has recently
closed an unsuccessful campaign to place a native son in the governor's chair naturally bringing about a tumble for the county in political circles.

The increased voting strength is calculated to recoup lost political fortunes to some extent, politicians over the state will be a little more careful in picking out the good and the bad for Morgan county, for a few thousand votes can mean
an election or defeat for a political aspirant.

What we have in mind is a road up the east
line of the county and a road between these cities and the Tri-Cities. The Tri-City-Twin-City
road at present belongs to the county, but we are quite certain that the county would how it
itself graciously from the picture should the state
care to undertake the building of that road. So much goes for the east road, leading up through Valhermoso and into the Lacey's Spring district.
Morgan's voting power tests Morgan's strength
in political circles and more than one aspirant to
a seat in the state capitol will include this county
in his itinerary before he counts his fence building as completed.

That is one of the good things to come out of
the courthouse fight, though for a time it seemed
that nothing of good import could be discovered
in the move, although the attempt of Hartselle
citizens was entirely sincere and worthwhile for their city.

Hartselle has done a service in welding Albany
and Decatur in a campaign, something that is being seen often now, particularly when affairs
of civic nature are brought to the fore.

Insofar as the county schools are concerned,
E. L. Hays, county superintendent, should take off his hat in gracious acknowledgment for the service Hartselle has performed. Those extra thousands in cash will go a long way toward keeping the rural folk in school the full length terms.

The courthouse campaign has produced an unusual number of new citizens, not new people,
but people with the rights of American citizenship which they have done without for 10 these
many years.

Regarding the campaign which is almost certain to follow, provided Hartselle people are not satisfied with the first estimates of voting
strength, let us hope that the campaign will continue in the same light which characterized the
"Pay Your Poll Tax" campaign, that hard feelings will not be encouraged, that facts rather than fiction may be presented, and Morgan county come out of the whole affair a whole lot stronger than in previous years. At least a whole lot more folks in the county will have the pleasure of knowing a whole lot more folks in the county.

SALIENT FACTS CONCERNING THE CURB MARKET.

Along toward the latter days of this month, or
the early days in March, it is anticipated that Albany-Decatur's curb market will begin operation, probably on First Avenue, Albany, near
the crossing of the Louisville & Nashville spur
track traversing that avenue.

Despite the numbers of times that features of the curb market have been published in news
articles, sent over the county in pamphlet form,
told by word of mouth there remains a considerable number who have a hazy sort of idea concerning the market, its functions and its regulations.

These plans are taken from the Anniston plan,
a successful plan and likely to be chosen for the Albany-Decatur mart:

1. The producer is the farmer. The producer
may bring whatever edibles he chooses to the market, paying a nominal fee, perhaps 50 cents
for a registration fee the first day he sells. He does not have to pay that fee again during the year. He will pay a fee of 15 cents for each day
he sells, the price being settled upon by the curb
market committee.

2. The consumer is the housewife in the city,
or the local grocer who wants to get the freshest
line of standardized farm products. Hours are set aside for the buyers, the hours to likewise
be regulated at an early moment by the permanent committee.

3. The curb master is the person who is given charge of the market, at a nominal salary and
who directs the price at which various articles
may be sold, that price to be set in accordance with the local retail market prices. The curb
master, or mistress, directs the producer in arranging his products on display, showing the farmer or the farm woman how articles may be attractively displayed so as to please the eye
of the prospective buyer.

4. The producer pays cash for his privilege to sell, pays no city license so long as he is selling his own products, and receives cash in return
for his products.

5. Each producer should bring his own scales
for weighing purposes.

6. No city organizations will be allowed to sell
in competition with the county producer, at least
until such time as the market has become well
established and the consumers are sufficient in number to purchase city made as well as country
made and country grown products.

7. Producers will not come from Morgan county alone, but from neighboring counties as:
Lawrence, Limestone and Cullman.

The Daily offers these salient features of the Albany-Decatur curb market to give the farmer
and the city housewife the real meaning of the curb market and trusts that the explanation is clear enough and encouraging enough to bring
a large number of producers and consumers to the mart center the first day of the life of the new civic endeavor. Members of the curb committee will be governed somewhat by the producer regarding the opening date of the market
and announcements will be carried in the Daily
from time to time regarding the opening date.

That the market is going to be a success is
almost assured, county and townspeople evincing
an unusual amount of interest in the plan.

Help this Junior Chamber plan for bringing
new blood into the cities by encouraging the
traveling salesman who sells his line to you,
to stay in the cities. If you have no place in mind
for him to live, get in touch with members of the Junior Chamber and that organization will go to work at once to find suitable housing facilities,
suitable boarding arrangements. Traveling salesmen in this territory expend enough money
in a year's time to equal the salaries and wages
paid by a substantial industry. Keep the traveling salesman in mind.

WHAT POULTRY MEANS IN ALABAMA AND NATION

The importance of poultry to
the United States is probably not fully appreciated by the average person, but figures accurately compiled will serve to bring to attention the big part this wing of agriculture plays in our national life.

Likewise, with Lee County, poultry can be brought to play a great
part, and while interest in poultry
here is on the increase, the industry has not as yet come to reach
the desired level of activity.

The Opelika Chamber of Commerce was recently presented with some figures gathered by F. F.
Gist, agricultural statistician, Au-
burn, which prove very interesting.

The Alabama figures by Mr.
Gist, for 1925, and the United States figures are from the 1920
census. The value of the different farm products produced in Alabama in 1925 were estimated
by Mr. Gist as follows:

Cotton	$125,153,000
Milk	50,400,000
Corn	37,760,000
Cotton seed	20,280,000
Eggs	16,450,000
Hogs	12,000,000
Cattle	9,000,000
Hay	8,398,000
Sweet potatoes	5,637,000
Sugar cane syrup	3,388,000
Peanuts	3,226,000
Irish potatoes	3,185,000
Poultry	3,000,000
Sorghum sury	2,646,000

It is seen, therefore, that eggs
ranked fifth in value among the important farm products in Alabama in 1925. To this egg value
of $16,450,000 should be added the poultry value of $3,000,000 making
a total of $19,450,000 for eggs and poultry. At the same time, the value of poultry on farms was estimated to be $3,805,000. This represents a portion of the capital
stock of the poultry investment;
and, unlike many other products,
it was producing a return every day in the year. Each setting of the sun signifies that the poultry
population has made another contribution to the wealth of the state.

For the United States as a whole
the census of 1920 placed a value
of $1,074,000,000 on the egg and poultry business. It exceeded the value of the wheat crop by $3-000,000. It was:

1-2 the value of the corn crop.
3-5 the value of the cotton crop.
5 times the value of the apple crop.
5 times the value of all the fruit.
3 time the value of the tobacco crop.
4 times the value of the gardens.
6 times the value of horses and mules.
7 times the value of sheep.
9 times the value of swine.
2 times the value of sweet and Irish potatoes.—Opelika Daily News.

THE AMERICAN LEGION'S PROGRAM

The American Legion is winning the support of many good
citizens who believe that its stand
for adjusted compensation was
the primary objective of the veterans' organization. Relief of disabled, Americanism, community
betterment and other altruistic Legion enterprises were overlooked

by thousands whose opposition to
the compensation measure was so
great as to forget the other items
on the Legion program held of equal importance by the Legionnaires themselves.

With compensation out of the way, the veterans organization has concentrated its activities on
world peace measures, community
betterment enterprises, American-ism and naturalization projects, in addition to its determined stand
for relief of disabled fighters and
the raising of a national endowment fund to care for the orphans
of those who fell in the world
conflict.

The American Legion is demonstrating that it proposes to live
up to the preamble of its constitution, which says "For God and Country, we associate ourselves
together."

PHYSICAL UNFITNESS
TO BE COMBATTED

Dr. Copeland Calls Attention to the Alarming
High Proportion of Youngsters Who Fail
to Pass Medical Examination.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

WE learned a lot from the World War. Much of this information relates to subjects not directly associated with military or naval activity. Some of it has an important bearing upon the health of our people.

In preparing for the war every prospective
soldier was given a searching physical examination.
I shall never forget the long hours I spent as a member of one of the draft boards. What impressed me most in this experience was the large number
of physically unfit men who appeared before us.

The other day I saw a newspaper account of the report made by the hygiene expert of the Moline (Ill.) schools. "This recalls to us figures which were familiar a few years ago."

It was pointed out that of the two and a half million men examined for the army more than 730,000 were rejected as physically unfit. This means that almost 30 per cent were defective. Out of every ten men examined three were found hopelessly imperfect.

That is a dreadful record, isn't it?
It ought to be a very, very uncommon thing to find a physically defective person. Three out of a hundred would be too large a proportion,
but three out of ten is unspeakable.

The report to which I refer contained language which I quote:
"Shocked by this revelation, medical scientists analyzed the causes and
found them to be in a large degree
traceable to the cumulative effects
in infancy and through the school
period."
We are prone to take
too much pride in our having conquered the plague of the so-called
"childhood diseases," like diphtheria,
without remembering that we have
done little or nothing to guard children against the chronic degenerative diseases which were the principal cause of rejection by the draft.
For instance, the death rate under
twenty-five years from heart disease
is as high as that from typhoid fever."

We may make progress against
typhoid, diphtheria and scarlet fever,
for instance, but if we fail to take
the developing child, to make sure
it is properly fed to guarantee the
mineral and other elements essential
to its growth, we are falling far short of our duty to the child. Unless the bones, teeth, muscles and
other tissues are nourished and kept
in the best of condition there cannot be that perfection of body which means fitness and physical ability to meet the combat of life.
We must go back to infancy and
childhood if we would have the men

Answers to Health Queries

E. M. G. Q.—Why do men have to expectorate more often than women?

A.—Men are more subject to catarrh and also smoke so much more than women.

S. S. S. Q.—How can I reduce?

2.—What should a woman weigh
who is 36 years old and 4 ft. 9 1/2 ins.
tall?

A.—Weight reduction is merely a matter of self-control as regards the diet. Exercise is also essential. For other particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat
your question.

2.—For her age and height she should weigh about 119 pounds.

F. H. Q.—Where can I obtain lime
water?

A.—This solution may be purchased for a small sum at most any reliable drug store.

Poison Gas Flame Throwers

By ARTHUR BRISBANE. (Copyright, 1926, by The Star Co., For Albany-Decatur Daily).

In offering Mr. Brisbane's
daily editorials The Daily does not necessarily concur with his opinions, but offers them as
the sentiments of the highest paid editorial writer in this country.

GOVERNMENT estimates the
present population of the United States right here at home at 118,628,000. The country has gained 12,917,380 in the last six years, one million and a half in
the last year.

All this is encouraging, although it is slow. We need fifty million more people now to eat
surplus products of farms, buy
new automobiles and "used car"
bargains.

People are the real wealth of the world.

JUDGE LINDSEY on an election technicality is suddenly removed from his place in Den-ver's Juvenile Court. The whole country knows the admirable
work that Judge Lindsey has done, and agrees with Bonfils of the Denver Post, who "sees a thing clearly" and describes it
as follows:

"It is manifestly unfair to let
a shameful conspiracy against Judge Lindsey throw him out of office by the fraud it committed. Judge Lindsey is entitled to all the honest ballots cast for
him. It is wrong to permit a few crooks to thwart the will of the people by gumming up an election."

WRITE down 5, then add 18
zeros and you have five quintil-
lions, the distance in miles to our
earth from one of those nearby
universes floating in space
around us. We thought our universe, the milky way, with our sun a bright speck in it, was all that the Lord created, but that
universe is only one little speck
in a mass of universes, each an island in its own account. Within five hundred quintillions of
miles of this spot in space,
there are innumerable universes.

IT IS EASY to say "five quintillions," but utterly impossible
for the human mind to conceive
what it means. Light traveling 186,000 miles a second would travel five quintillion of miles
in 1,000,000 years.

KIND HEARTED ladies, and
slippy statesmen that would stop
manufacture of poison gas in the United States, please read facts.
The French war ministry announces that liquid-flame throwing squads will be incorporated
in every battalion of the French army.

EVERY army in Europe at this moment is trained intensely
in "defensive chemical warfare,"
which means in the use of poison gases. The League of Nations talks about discontinuing
the use of poison gas, but nations in the League manufacture it, specialize in it, improve

on it.

IF WE EVER get into war,
which may happen in spite of
prayers and amiable ladies' organizations, we shall face the poison gas from the air, everything that chemistry can do to shorten human life and war.
Wouldn't it be a good idea to be ready for it and how can we be ready for it we simply watch
others, getting ready?

IN Philadelphia, police, to convict men of driving automobiles
recklessly while drunk, will get evidence by blood tests. The blood shows how much alcohol
a man has in him.

THOSE that drink whiskey,
the bootleg variety now flooding
the country, would be interested in the effect of whiskey on the blood. Among other things, it discourages the leucocytes, destroying the power of the blood
to heal wounds. The bootleg
drinker would do well to insure his life. If anything happens to him necessitating an operation,
he is apt to go from the operating table to the undertaker.

SYBIL BAUER, swimming

three years old. She set a world's record for women in the back-stroke, held twenty-three
records in all, and her specialty
was short races from 100 meters
to one quarter of a mile.

The early death of this brilliant young woman is a warning
against too violent exercise.
Straining the heart means shortening life.

SWISS inventor has made a
clock alleged to solve the problem of perpetual motion, which
of course it doesn't solve. The thing is wound up by variations
in temperature. It has run for a year without being touched.
That, however, isn't perpetual motion. This earth will get
cold, our atmosphere will vanish
and at the ether's temperature,
"absolute zero," that clock won't
run. Nothing is perpetual except divine justice.

THE ARGENTINE govern-

far away. Those already old will oceans by flying machine, before they die.

mon sense in the water. At his request, Mr. Wrigley has tied up his $25,000 so that his mother
will get the interest, as long as she lives, then he will get it, and
he won't get the principal until
he is forty.

Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population

to open a studio on the Left Bank,
and already shows signs of becom-

Miss Abbott first studied scul-

landed in Paris three years ago.
She happened to meet Man Ray at

her hands for an entire year.
When that time came, however,
she showed what she had learned.

From the very first day almost,
her pictures were unusually good,

THURSDAY ROOK CLUB

The Thursday Rook club met this week at the home of Mrs. O. P. Stinson and she made a charming hostess. Lovely valentine decorations were noticeable throughout the home and other details of the party carried out this motif.

Mrs. E. R. Wolfe made highest score at rook and she was pre-

Besides club members, those present were Mrs. J. W. Thornton, Mrs. J. M. Hatfield, Mrs. J. R. Doss, Mrs. Herman Whaley, Mrs. J. W. Boggs, and Mrs. W. A. Schafer. Each player was presented as a memento of the afternoon a pretty heart shaped box of candy.

BRIDGE LUNCHEON

Mrs. N. H. Coleman, of Florence, was the inspiration for the very lovely bridge luncheon that was given on Thursday by Mrs. H. D. Burnum, whom she is visiting. Frezias and roses prettily arranged in baskets, added to the attractiveness of the home at this time.

A delicious two course luncheon was served to the guests at one o'clock by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Leroy McEntire and Mrs. H. R. Davis, after which bridge was played. Mrs. W. K. McNeill was presented the prize, a blooming cyclamen having made top score. The honoree's gift was a dainty handkerchief.

The valentine motif was used in the tally and place cards which bore the following names: Mrs. W. K. McNeill, Mrs. Eugene Morrow, Mrs. Milton Harvey, Mrs. F. D. Peebles, Mrs. R. N. Harris, Mrs. A. A. MRS. CRAWFORD HOSTESS TO D. A. R.

The Stephens Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution had one of the most interesting meetings of the year on Thursday afternoon when Mrs. W. E. Crawford was their hostess at her home on Cain street.

A great deal of business was transacted, one of the features of this hour being the election of Miss Baby Bess Bailey as representative of this chapter to attend the National Congress at Washington in April. The programs given have proved very instructive as well as interesting this year and the one on Thursday was no exception. Those contributing were Mrs. Louis A. Neill, Mrs. W. C. Bailey, and Mrs. W. E. Crawford.

Refreshments were passed later at the conclusion of the program. Mrs. O. J. Brooks, of Huntsville, who is the house guest of Mrs. Crawford, met with the chapter at this time.

Pin-Tucks Add Interest to Spring Frocks

The Finest of Tucks Lend Spring Vivacity to These New Models.

By Angelle Bradshaw

THE fact that heads are short and sports clothes are in big demand does not mean that the mannish mode prevails. Sports things are simple, it is true, but most becomingly designed and smart, while the new afternoon dresses are alluringly feminine.

Nothing adds to the charm of afternoon gowns as soft materials like the use of well placed tucks of the narrowest possible width. They are used here to best advantage, in one frock to give straight lines where needed and allow becoming fullness below, in the other to give the horizontal stripe effect, which is so well liked by the younger set—a fashion primarily for youthful slim figures.

At the left we have a gown in soft rose georgette, relying entirely on smartly placed tucks and rippling fullness for its decoration. There is also a bow at the shoulder with slender streamers falling almost to the hem, for bows are much used in the new Spring models.

The other frock is done in navy crepe roma, with its narrow tucks placed in groups, between which are diversified stripes in gay colored silk embroidery. A collar of pale yellow handkerchief linen matches one of the colors of the embroidery. This simplicity fastening is most flattering to the slim figure, and should be worn rather tight to give the closely fitted line.

Long sleeves continue to be smartest, and those which are rather fitted at the top and then widen into becoming fullness, to be caught into a tight band at the wrist are seen in many frocks of sheer materials.

MISS HORNBOOK COMPLETED WITH PARTY

Miss Elizabeth Hornbrook, of Wheeling, W. Va., who is visiting Miss Marjory Beard, has been beautifully honored during her visit here and one of the most delightful of the parties given for her was that on Thursday night with Miss Mary Jervis honoring her. The interior of the Jervis home was attractively decorated, the valentine motif predominating.

Bridge was played and three prizes were offered, the high score trophy for the girls being won by Miss Roline Teasley, the boy's top prize was awarded to Mr. Eugene Bailey and Miss Elizabeth Ann Morrow received the other, a consolation which was cut for. Miss Jervis gave the honor guest a souvenir. Elaborate refreshments were served at the tables following the game.

Miss Jervis' guest list bore the following names: Misses Elizabeth Hornbrook, Marjory Beard, Amanda Pride, Jane Knight, Louise Almon, Ann Ford, of Courtland, Roline Teasley, Elizabeth Ann Morrow, Myrtle Graves, Eleanor Ramage, Annie Mae Gardner, Maureen Bobbitt and Messrs. Charles Voltz, Robert Tweedy, of Courtland, Charles Malone, Ted Sheppard, Lawson Draper, Asbury Malone, Milton Thorston, Robert Warren, Eugene Bailey, Charles Malone, William Singleton, Cecil Verner, and Robert Jervis.

ROOK PARTY

Mrs. C. M. Graham entertained a few friends at rook on Tuesday afternoon at her home on Canal street. Spring flowers were used in profusion for decorations.

At the enjoyable games of rook the high score trophy was won by Mrs. George Rogers and the low score souvenir by Mrs. J. P. Brock. Later in the afternoon a tempting salad course was served to the following guests, the hostess being assisted by Mrs. I. V. Timberlake: Mrs. J. B. Cassells, Mrs. J. P. Brock, Mrs. George Rogers, Mrs. Fred Pruett, Mrs. R. C. Perkins, Mrs. J. B. Fleming, and Mrs. Timberlake.

FAMOUS FRENCH RECIPES

BY ALICE LANGELIER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS. — "Pommes Bataille" (Battle Potatoes) are considered the best of all the half dozen varieties of French fried potatoes which are made by all good chefs on this side of the water.

This particular nomenclature applies to the size only, for as a matter of fact, all French fries are made in very much the same manner and thus have much the same taste. This size is considered the best one for the average mouth. It really is third in the ladder.

First come the very, very thin fries, called "Pommes Allumettes," for they are no longer than the ordinary match. A special knife cuts them into these fine strips and they are thrown into hot fat and cooked as usual.

"Pommes Paloe," are just a little bigger, for they are like straw tubes and resemble them if browned to just the right point.

Then come the "Pommes Bataille" which are just a good mouthful for anyone, not too large and not too small, easy to handle on the fork and not so large as the real "French Fries" which come next. "Pommes Bataille" are best cut with an ordinary knife, by making little boat-shapes as for an old-fashioned apple-pie. After cutting them, drain on a linen cloth, then throw into hot fat until, a nice brown.

Our Year Olympic Periods Require Constant Supply of New Athletes

By DAVIS J. WALSH
NEW YORK. — (INS)—"New lamps for old," leered the villain who wished to short change Aladdin out of his non-refillable magic lantern. And Aladdin's faithful retainer naturally thought the man was off his chump and hastened to close the deal before the ap became conscious. He figured he couldn't get the benefit of a miracle seven days a week.

The American Olympic Committee supplies new lamps for old every four years and no one regards it as being at all miraculous. It is taken as a matter of course. American supremacy in track and field could not long endure otherwise.

Yet a pre-view of the Olympic situation merely serves to indicate how surprisingly few members of the team that won in Paris may be expected to figure prominently at the Amsterdam games next year. The competitive "hangovers" of the four year interval may number as few as a short half dozen.

The Big Six
Bud Houser, double winner in the weights at Paris, figures to be one of them. Lee Barnes and Glenn Graham, "one-two" in the pole vault at Paris, may also come back, being young and full of varnish. Lloyd Hahn, place winner at 1,500 meters, is an exception in that he is expected to be a stronger contender than ever. Morgan Taylor, 400 metre hurdle champion, also seems to be none the worse for wear. The other possibilities are Harold Osborn and De Hart Hubbard, winners of the high and broad jumps respectively. I don't believe either is as good now as he was in 1924.

Charley Paddock, winner of the 100 metres in 1920 and second at the double distance in 1924, was fast enough last year to get credit for a new century record of 9.5-10 seconds. But the general idea on Charley now is that another year will do him virtually no good with sprinters like Locke, Borah, Russell and Sharkey coming while he is going.

The same idea applies to Scholz, Bowman and Murchison, 1924 sprinters, and to the record breaking relay teams of Leoney, Murchison, Clarke and Hussey at 400 metres and McDonald, Stevenson, Cochran and Helfrich, at 1,600 metres. Hussey is quite young but he seems to have lost the speed he knew in the last Olympic year and the season immediately following it.

No one expects Coard Taylor, Fitch, Robertson or any other 1924 quarter miler to get anywhere in particular now and Enck, place winner at 800 metres last time, seems to be definitely out of competition. Richardson and Watters were active last year but don't appear to be exactly hot bets for 1928. As for the milers, Watson and Baker, they seem to have been decently buried.

Always A Supply
Joie Ray also was on the distance team. He is passe now. So is Roming, who placed in the 5,000 metre event.

Tootell, the hammer throw champion has turned pro. So has Tom Lieb discus point getter. Conins and Gordin, broad jumpers, seem to be pretty well retired from circulation and that appears to go, too, for Hartman in the weight events; Brown in the high jump; Brookins, Anderson and Riley in the hurdles, and Legendre in the all around event and broad jump.

Little has been heard, either, of Kinsey, high hurdle champion, but several others will be back. I suppose, too, that statement covers the case of De Mar, who finished third in the marathon at Paris. He is forty years old or more but a marathoner seemingly is incurable.

The four-year tack of the Olympic Committee would be that much simpler if all of its athletes were marathoners. It is easy enough, at that; for it deals only in American manhood and the supply is always at the flood.

Team To Leave Today For Game

Decatur girl's basketball team will leave today for Hartselle where they meet the girls of Morgan county high at Hartselle in a game that is expected to have a direct bearing upon the girls championship affair in the county. Pickens County May Play Saturday

A hurry call from Pickens county High, asking for a game with Albany Hi Saturday night, was being considered today by Albany Hi officials, the game probably will be accepted during the day. The Albany Hi squad is in the best of condition and will have the advantage of playing tonight, being in good trim for the Pickens battle.

Alabama Rifles To Match Rivals

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Matches with Denison University of Alabama. First conference Saturday will open the rifle shooting season for the University of Alabama. First conference contests will be held February 12 against Clemson, Louisiana State University and the University of Nebraska. The latter team will shoot in the nature of an inter-sectional entry, as Nebraska is a member of the Missouri Valley conference.

During the week of February 19, Mississippi A. and M., Western Maryland College, the University of Iowa and the University of Tennessee rifle teams will shoot against the Alabamians. A match with North Carolina State has been scheduled for the latter part of the month.

While these are the only matches which have so far been scheduled, W. A. Collier, Jr., manager of the rifle squad, expects several other southern conference members to sign for shooting contests during the spring season.

While the Alabama squad is inexperienced, the strongest possible contenders have been signed, Collier says. Experience gained in this season's shooting is expected to make the Alabama rifle team a strong bidder for the conference honors next season.

Pepper Is Talked For Defense Work

Raymond Pepper, rangy Albany-Decatur lad who has donned cage dogs for grid-paddling, is causing no little comment for his defense tactics on the Crimson Tide's basket representation. Speaking of the coming game with Georgia Tech, the following is noted regarding Pepper: "Pepper and Leach who from the defense for the Tide will also be well-known by the Tech cagers before the referee toots his whistle for the end of the melee. These youngsters so efficiently handle the ramparts as to completely befuddle all opponents attempts to pry through for close range shots."

HUNTSVILLE HERE FOR CAGE FIGHT

Crimson Cagesters Set For Go With Royal Purple

Huntsville Hi corps of basketball hit town this afternoon all set for the title fight with the Purple standards of Albany Hi tonight at 7:15 at the Albany Hi gymnasium. Huntsville cage squad, a veteran outfit, will offer plenty to think about in the Purple camp.

Coach Alford today decided on his starting line-up, with Bishop at center, Prince and Evans at forwards and Johnson and Huie at guards. Prince has hit his stride and is expected to loop quite a number of his team's points thru the hoops tonight.

Huntsville's line-up has not been announced. Pep meetings at the high school gymnasium this morning stirred considerable interest among cage followers and a good crowd is expected for this evening's battle.

"The Daily carries more local news than other papers, even the metropolitan papers," was the compliment paid this newspaper by a North Alabama contemporary.

Strange Reaction Is Seen To Flu

By International News Service LONDON.—The influenza epidemic in Britain, slight though it has been in effects, has had some curious reactions.

To take one instance, London publicans have been serving their customers—for an extra cent—a tonic which is tasteless in beer, and warranted to be a sure specific against influenza. With beer or stout the dose takes the form of citrate of iron and quinine or ammoniate dinitrate of quinine. With wines and spirits the dose is compounded of a mixture containing dilute phosphoric acid and sulphate of quinine.

On this occasion, the influenza seems to have made a direct onslaught on milkmen. The consequences have been so severe that the services of women who delivered milk during the war have been re-arranged.

Some fashionable London physicians have been taking their house-maintenance with them on their visits. The idea is to prepare meals for patients and tidy up their apartments.

UNABLE TO ATTEND

SPRING CLOUDS OF WAR LOOM

Preparedness Is The Slogan Of Red
Military

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER

MOSCOW.—Working constantly under the slogan of preparedness against the war with Poland which many Soviet politicians predict will break out in the spring, the Revolutionary war council has decreed a series of changes and innovations in the Red army with the purpose of improving its efficiency.

Measures decreed range from reorganization of the reserve to adoption of new uniforms for officers.

Coincident with the announcement that an extra hundred million roubles would be assigned to the army this year a decree was issued ordering all men between the ages of twenty-four and thirty-four to register with military census boards.

This order occasioned considerable surprise, since the classes in question had already registered in previous years. It was declared, however, that the re-registration was necessary in order to carry out the plans for a reorganization of the reserve.

New Regulations

At the same time were announced new regulations aiming at the creation of a large body of non-commissioned officers. All graduates of high schools will hereafter be allowed to leave the army after one year's training provided they take the necessary courses for non-coms, in the recently established "Academies for non-commissioned officers."

It is also decreed that all young men volunteering for the army before being conscripted will be given the privilege of choosing what branch of service they wish to serve in, and when possible, the privilege of serving in the province where they live. This latter privilege is also to be extended to graduates of high schools.

The new uniforms for officers present a striking departure from the previous policy of keeping officers and men as nearly as possible upon the same level, in the matter of clothing as well as of social distinction. Officers hereafter will wear blue uniforms while the private soldiers will continue to wear khaki.

Commanders of all branches except the cavalry, artillery and aviation corps will wear dark blue uniforms. Flying officers will wear dark blue knee breeches, "French jackets" and white shirts with stand-up black and white collars.

Change In Uniforms

It is believed that the change in uniforms is one consequence of the fact, recently reported upon by the Commissar of War Voroshilov, that discipline in the Red Army was suffering by reason of the over-familiarity existing between the officers and men.

Another change which has occupied the attention of numerous conferences of army leaders is the abolition of political commissars who have previously been assigned to non-communist officers. Many of these commissars have already been assigned to other duties, but it is the ambition of the Revolutionary War council to do away with all of them, since the system of double responsibility proved wasteful and inefficient.

Among other changes, it is announced that the anti-religious propaganda circles in the Red army have been greatly increased in number. On every religious holiday the soldiers are now offered lectures on atheistic themes.

To be allowed, a claim for a deduction for a loss incurred in a "transaction entered into for profit," not connected with the taxpayer's trade or business, must have several distinct qualities.

The intent to make a profit must have existed at the beginning of the enterprise. Not infrequently deductions for losses are claimed through the sale of a house owned and occupied by the taxpayer as a home. If the property was purchased for the taxpayer's personal use as a residence without intent of resale, it was not a "transaction entered into for profit." A loss sustained in the sale of a house purchased by the taxpayer as his residence without intent to make a profit, and subsequently rented, is not deductible. A person claiming deduction for loss incurred in the sale of residential property should attach to his return an affidavit stating the facts as to the use of the property, supported by evidence, record if possible, showing his intent when he entered the transaction.

A taxpayer who buys an automobile to be used for business purposes and sells it at a loss is entitled to a deduction for the loss sustained. But a loss sustained in the sale of an automobile purchased for pleasure or convenience is not deductible, the transaction not having been entered into for profit.

All losses are deductible are not compensated for by insurance or otherwise.

EDUCATORS STUDY ATHENS CONDITION

$10,000 Fund Will Be Spent Yearly In Limestone

By D. L. ROSENAU, JR.

A group of ten prominent New York educators headed by Hon. Fredrick Brownlee of New York city, were the guests of Athens Wednesday and part of Thursday, making an inspection tour of Trinity College for Negroes at Athens. The New York gentlemen are making a tour of the leading negro educational institutions in the South and came to Athens direct from Tuskegee Institute, being met at the train by Mayor C. W. Sarver and other prominent citizens who took them for an automobile tour of the city. A special mass meeting was held at Trinity College auditorium Wednesday night when several of the New Yorkers, a number of Athenians, and G. R. Bridgeforth of Athens, director of negro education in Alabama, spoke. It was announced that the Rosenwald Fund will probably spend $10,000 per year on negro education in Limestone, and work will be started on building a number of rural schools at once. Trinity College is out for $100,000 to be used in making extensive improvements and additions to the institution. A drive is on towards making the institution a general southern school for the training of negro teachers.
